About me

I'm Elisa, an illustrator and surface pattern designer.

I graduated in Architecture in Madrid, my hometown, and since then, I have worked as an architect, illustrator, graphic and web designer and teacher. Today, I'm wholeheartedly dedicated to illustration, creating digital products, working as a freelancer, and licensing my surface pattern designs.

My mission? Making the world a more colorful place to live in!

When I'm not immersed in the world of colors and lines, you can find me in Madrid, where I live with my family and Duna, my cat.
